Focus on Felt SIG : The creation of felt can use different techniques – wet felting, needle felting... and it may take on different forms – clothing, accessories, items for the home or as gifts. One thing that ties them all together is a love of fiber, color, and textures that turn simple materials into things of beauty and function. The Focus on Felt SIG explores all of this and more at our monthly meetings.

Meeting time: First Tuesday of the month at 11:00AM
Day and time subject to change

Location: determined by membership

Contact person: Jan Gibson 440.255.0045

Spinning SIG: Handspinning is a journey that encompasses many paths. It can take the spinner through the discovery of raw source materials – wool and alpaca fleece, flax and cotton, silk cocoons. It can travel through the techniques needed to create the product needed for the project. It can leap beyond the boundaries of function into a veritable art form all by itself. The WRSW Spinning Special Interest Group has been created to nourish the artistic traveler that resides in the heart of each spinner to reach out and try new things. Some paths may only become stamps in a passport, while others may become a place in which to live, grow and flourish. Come join us for the adventure!

This SIG is open to WRSW members who already have a basic knowledge of spinning and are able to spin a continuous thread. For those interested in learning how to spin, we can suggest both formal and informal opportunities in the community.

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP (SIG) GUIDELINES

Purpose: Special Interest Groups (SIGs) provide supplementary areas of specialized, focused studies for Western Reserve Spinners & Weavers (WRSW) guild members. SIGs are not a replacement of the guild general meetings.

Why Join a SIG?

- A SIG enables a WRSW guild member to focus on an area of study with other members who are like-minded.
- A SIG is an excellent venue in which to encourage cross-pollination of ideas and challenges the participant to actually put the work into the learning of the skills needed to enhance their expression.
- A SIG provides the opportunity for a motivated member to nurture others and provides a way to encourage those with teaching abilities to teach/facilitate in a small group setting.
- A SIG can become the initial testing ground for exploration in the fiber art of choice by providing new perspectives and techniques.
- A SIG challenges the member to hone their craft outside of formal meetings with projects and goals.

What the SIGs provide to WRSW:

- Having SIGs as a “members only” organization means that guild membership is required to participate. More guild members equals more people, which means that we have the membership and dues support to have better programs.
- The SIGs enrich artistic growth and development when they follow the Purpose of the SIGs.
- The SIGs are an avenue to foster teaching talent. By engaging SIG members to take part in leading a class or a project singly or in teams, SIG facilitators can gauge the abilities of certain members to become teachers or facilitators of their craft. This also broadens the scope of WRSW to fulfill an aspect of our mission, by providing educational opportunities to the general public, whether by demonstrations, creating hands-on programs, and other forms of community outreach.
- If a SIG desires to sponsor a workshop, the Program Chairperson must be contacted at least twelve months.

What WRSW provides to the SIGs:

- WRSW provides access to the members’ database and the ability to communicate to a developed list of individuals and families with a predisposition to take part in fiber art projects, events, and workshops.
- WRSW provides publicity of all SIG events through use of its website, through Social Media, and via its general mailing lists prior to any arrangements being made.
- WRSW provides general sessions (meetings) as a platform for each SIG to share their accomplishments with the membership at large.
- WRSW supports SIGs by offering opportunities for teachers/facilitators to expand their teaching abilities in regular programs and activities
- WRSW supports SIGs by creating opportunities for showcasing talents through shows, displays, and by the development of other areas of community outreach

Guidelines for SIG Facilitators:

- Designated SIGs will follow the mission of WRSW and will focus on their titled topic of interest.
- SIG participation is a benefit of being a member in good standing who embraces the mission statement of WRSW.
- SIGs must be rigorous in maintaining a “members-only” policy for SIG meetings. Anything deemed as an “outreach event” should be funneled through WRSW via Programs and Workshops/Publicity as per other general guild workshops and programs in order to fulfill the obligation to support the guild.
- SIG participation (whether as a teacher or as a member) is totally voluntary and is a benefit of being a member of WRSW. There are no dues paid or teacher fees presented in this venue. Any events requiring remuneration should go through the general guild processes already in place for guild programs and workshops.

- All SIGs will have a study plan with dates presented to the SIG Chairperson by October 1st of the current calendar year for the upcoming year’s meetings and activities.
- All SIGs will have at least one facilitator who will be responsible to attend all SIG facilitator meetings as requested by the SIG chairperson. Facilitators will also be required to present a report, as needed, at general guild meetings and to provide updates, as requested, for the guild newsletter.

- Overview of SIG Facilitator duties as per WRSW Jobs and Responsibilities Description:

- * Oversee the meeting times, dates and locations of SIG meetings
- * Provide regular communication with all SIG participants
- * Confirm guild membership prior to the start of each new calendar year
- * As needed, prepare SIG projects, assign teaching duties, etc.
- * Provide an oral update of SIG activities at each meeting
- * Attend regularly scheduled WRSW guild meetings

Guidelines for SIG Chairperson:

- One of the SIG facilitators will be appointed chairperson by the consensus of the other SIG facilitators and represent the SIGs at the Executive Committee meeting
- Overview of SIG Chairperson duties as per WRSW Jobs and Responsibilities Description:
 - * Attend all Executive Committee meetings as called by the President
 - * Provide a list of members, as requested
 - * Provide input, as requested by the President
- The SIG Chairperson must submit the upcoming year’s schedule in their entirety to the Public Relations Chairperson no later than October 7 of the current calendar year so that the information may be printed into an annual SIG Program Newsletter for the upcoming year.
